

YOU'RE INVITED TO join National Geographic for a critical and engaging discussion on

EMPOWERING THE NEXT GENERATION OF PLANETARY STEWARDS

OCTOBER 29, 2018

RECEPTION 5:30 PM | PROGRAM 7:00 PM

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY | WASHINGTON, D.C.

FEATURED SPEAKERS

JUSTINE AMMENDOLIA

Marine Biologist & National Geographic Explorer

ÁNGEL CABRERA

President, George Mason University

VICKI PHILLIPS

Education Strategist, Former Director of Education,
Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation

SHAREE BARTON | JIM BENTLEY

PEG KEINER | LEON TYNES

National Geographic Certified Educators & Fellows

You'll hear innovative strategies igniting a spirit of exploration in students and empowering them to create a healthier, more sustainable future. With a special focus on Planet or Plastic?—National Geographic's multiyear effort to curb the amount of plastic reaching our ocean—we'll explore ways students are using teamwork, research, innovation, critical thinking, and storytelling to help create a planet in balance.

RSVP TODAY

Please contact events@ngs.org with any questions.
This invitation is non-transferable.

Photos courtesy of Ian Nichols/National Geographic, Jordi Chias, Laura Johnson/National Geographic.

If you prefer not to receive emails from us, please unsubscribe.

To ensure that you receive your National Geographic emails, please add events@ngs.org to your address book now.

Contact Us | About Us | Privacy Policy

National Geographic | 1145 17th Street NW | Washington, DC 20036
Copyright 2018 National Geographic Society. All rights reserved.